Mary McHenry, MEd, PCC

Mary McHenry has an extensive background in communication, facilitation, mediation and leadership and has been a coach and guide for over 25 years. Her training includes certification with The Coaching Institute and Newfield Network, and PCC level with the International Coaching Federation. Mary has a Masters in Adult Learning and Training from Colorado State University. Her rich experience in outdoor leadership and the arts provides the foundation for her work with presence and embodiment as a vital leadership skill. She comes from a long line of powerful women singers and works with voice as an instrument for expression and communication. Mary is currently Senior Director of Online Teaching and Learning at Naropa University in Boulder, Colorado.
