Susan Skjei, PhD, PCC

Susan Skjei has worked with thousands of leaders in the US, Canada, Europe and Jamaica to cultivate mindfulness and authenticity, strengthen relational, coaching and strategic skills, and effectively lead the changes they want to see in their organizations and in the world. She has a unique ability to create energetic and high trust learning environments that accelerate the achievement of practical organizational results while building strong, collaborative relationships. Formerly a Vice-President and Chief Learning Officer in the technology sector and an international consultant, she was also the founder and Director of the Authentic Leadership Center at Naropa University. Susan has a Ph.D. from Fielding Graduate University in Human and Organization Systems and a certificate in Change Management from Cornell University. She enjoys hiking, biking and watercolor painting.
